RESULTS GOOD IN ANTI-AIRCRAFT DEFENSE COURSES -- Sarajevo, Oslobodjenje, 22 Jun 51

Since the beginning of 1951, six courses in anti-aircraft defense in Banja Luka have been given with about 700 attending, and 11 courses in first aid with 930 attending. Even though results were good for the most part, the discipline of those attending was not satisfactory, for people's organizations did not satisfactorily explain the importance of the courses.

Another group of about 700 attending seven courses in anti-aircraft defense have shown better discipline and better mastery of the subject. Another first-aid course with about 80 in attendance is achieving similar good results. Pledged to better the results of these courses are doctors, engineers, technicians, and officers of the Yugoslav Army. Best results are being shown by units for chemical defense.

Anti-aircraft defense units of Banja Luka will soon hold a test exercise for workers on the Banja Luka-Doboj Railroad.
